DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-7 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
4. Regarding both rejections above under both first and second paragraphs of 35 USC 112, the terms of the claims are deemed to be so ambiguous that no clear understanding of the claims or disclosure is possible at this time. The terms of the claims find no clear support in the specification and in conjunction with the figures, offer no clue as to what structure to search for in determining patentability. See for example terms such as regulation section, and first, second, and third engagement portion not appearing in the detailed description. Such terms, if appearing in the Summary of the Invention, do not aid understanding of such a complex device.

5. In this regard, applicant is requested to not only conform claim language to the specification detailed description, but also provide all claims with reference numerals as an appendix in order to expedite prosecution.
